

Take Control of Clutter and Chaos in Your Life Just a Click Away NAPO-New England Launches New Website

June 28, 2005 (Boston, MA) – The National Association of Professional Organizers – New England chapter launches its new website, www.napo-newengland.com. The new site features profiles and contact information for over 140 area organizers, organizing tips, information on becoming an organizer, and clean and simple navigation.

“The website re-design is just one of the initiatives NAPO-NE has planned in order to increase public awareness of the professional organizing industry and educate consumers on how they can improve the quality of their lives, lower stress, increase productivity and have more time to enjoy personal interests by working with a professional organizer” said board member and past president, Standolyn Robertson.

The National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO) is the premiere association dedicated to the field of organizing. NAPO members design systems and processes that help their clients organize everything from closets to kitchens and home offices to large corporate file systems. The NAPO-New England chapter is the gateway for New Englanders to reach their organizing goals. NAPO-New England, the second largest chapter in the United States, has over 140 members working with residential and commercial clients.
